ASN Advisory Committee on Ensuring Trust in Nutrition Science

List of References Reviewed

2016

2015

2014

Yarborough M. Taking steps to increase the trustworthiness of scientific research. FASEB J. 2014;28(9):3841-3846.

2013

2012

2011

Hess RA. Excavating treasure from the amber of the prior art: why the public benefit doctrine is ill-suited to the pharmaceutical sciences. Food Drug Law J. 2011;66(1):105-120, iii.

2010

2009

Greenwald P, Dunn BK. Do We Make Optimal Use of the Potential of Cancer Prevention? Cancer Prevention II. 2009;181:3-17.

2008

Macleod U, Watt GC. The impact of consent on observational research: a comparison of outcomes from consenters and non consenters to an observational study. BMC medical research methodology. 2008;8:15.

2007

Mazzocchi M, Lobb AE, Traill WB. Food scares & consumer behaviour: a European perspective. System dynamics and food networks research: The Case of Trust. Proceedings of International Discussion Forum in conjunction with the 26th Conference of the International Association of Agricultural Economists, Queensland, Australia, 17 August 20062007:55-64.

2006

2005

2004

2003

2002

2001
Friday DS. Radio-frequency metrology from NBS to NIST: The legacy. 2001 Ieee Mtt-S International Microwave Symposium Digest, Vols 1-32001:845-848.

2000

1997

1996
